INGREDIENTS

- 2 cups old-fashioned rolled oats
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon fine salt
- 2 large eggs
- ⅓ cup plain or vanilla Greek yogurt
- ¼ cup unsalted butter, melted
- 3 tablespoons pure maple syrup
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 cup finely diced apple (about 1 small apple)
- ⅓ cup raisins
- ¼ cup chopped walnuts

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Preheat the oven to 350°F. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper or mist with cooking spray; set aside.
2. To a mixing bowl, add the oats, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, baking soda, and salt; stir together.
3. Add the eggs, yogurt, butter, maple syrup, and vanilla; stir together well.
4. Fold in the apples, raisins, and walnuts.
5. Scoop the dough out into 12 even cookies (about ¼ cup dough each). Flatten each one to about ½-inch thickness.
6. Bake until the cookies are lightly browned on the bottom, 15 to 18 minutes. Let cool on the baking sheet for 5 minutes before transferring to a cooling rack to cool completely.

NOTES

For dairy-free cookies, use plant-based yogurt instead of Greek yogurt, and use plant-based butter instead of dairy butter.

For a nut-free option, omit the walnuts.

Oats are naturally gluten free, but if serving these cookies to someone with celiac disease, use certified gluten-free rolled oats.

Finely dice the apple into roughly ¼-inch pieces so it distributes evenly throughout the cookies and softens as they bake.
